Item 4 – Advisory Business

Core Alpha was founded by Scott J Zollo in 2000. (See brochure supplement for Scott J Zollo) He is the sole owner of the firm. The firm specializes in dynamic asset allocation. Asset allocation is the process of choosing among possible asset classes such as stocks, bonds, real estate, and cash. Dynamic asset allocation, which is also known as tactical asset allocation or active asset allocation, is a form of asset allocation that seeks to increase returns and reduce risk by actively shifting allocations within a portfolio as market conditions change. The portfolios are constructed with no-load mutual funds, load waived mutual funds, exchange traded funds, closed end funds, Interval funds, exchange traded notes, Structed Notes / CD's and variable annuity sub accounts/ insurance products.

The firm is currently managing five types of portfolios:

- CORE portfolios will invest primarily in mutual funds with possibility of some exchange traded funds.
- Explorer portfolios will invest primarily in exchange traded funds with possibility of some open-end mutual funds.
- American Funds' portfolios will invest in American Funds mutual funds.
- SEI Managed accounts solution will invest primarily in mutual funds, exchange traded funds and some individual securities.
- Third party model portfolios.

DPL Financial Partners – Platform of insurance consultation service.

Core Alpha refers clients to other agents or vendors for annuities and insurance if it is determined a product should be implemented as part of the financial plan. One of these vendors is DPL Financial Partners, LLC. Core Alpha is not compensated by commission from any company. Clients pay fees to Core Alpha for advice and consulting on insurance products. The services and compensation are detailed in the client's contract with Core Alpha either as a financial planning service or portfolio management services for products with underlying investments.

DPL Financial Partners, LLC ("DPL") is a third-party provider of a platform of insurance consultation services to investment advisers with clients who have current or future needs for insurance products. DPL's platform is available to SEC- and stateregistered investment advisers ("RIAs"), as well as to investment advisers who are exempt from SEC and state registration ("exempt reporting advisers" or "ERAs"). DPL offers RIAs and ERAs memberships to its platform for a fixed annual fee. Through its licensed insurance agents, who are also registered representatives of The Leaders Group, Inc. ("The Leaders Group"), an unaffiliated SEC-registered broker-dealer and FINRA member, offers members a variety of services relating to commission free insurance products. These services include, among others, providing members with analyses of their current methodology for evaluating client insurance needs, educating and acting as a resource to members regarding insurance products generally and specific insurance products owned by their clients or that their clients are considering purchasing, and providing members access to, and marketing support for, commission free products that insurers have agreed to offer to members' clients through DPL's platform. For providing platform services to RIAs and ERAs, DPL receives service fees from the insurers that offer their commission free products through the platform. These service fees are based on the insurance premiums received by the insurers from DPL members' clients. DPL is licensed as an insurance producer in Kentucky and other jurisdictions where required to perform the platform services. Its representatives are also licensed as insurance producers, appointed as insurance agents of the insurers offering their products through the platform, and registered representatives of The Leaders Group

Fidelity Institutional Wealth Advisors Advisory Program (FMAX)

The FMAX platform ("FMAX") is sponsored by Fidelity Institutional Wealth Advisors ("FIWA"). FMAX is a comprehensive wealth advisory platform that integrates planning, managed accounts, clearing and custody capabilities, and other third-party products and services into one technology supported solution. The investment products available through this platform include separately managed account(s), model portfolios, mutual funds, exchange traded funds, individual equities and fixed income products.

The FMAX Advisory Programs allows clients and Representative of Core Alpha access to select one or more separately managed account(s) ("SMA") or fund strategist(s) (collectively, "Investment Manager" or "Implementation Manager") offered on the platform. FIWA is responsible for the due diligence of the Investment Manager(s) and Implementation Manager(s) and the Core Alpha Representative will select the appropriate Investment Manager(s) based on the predetermined client risk profile. Additional overlay portfolio management strategies are available to provide a customizable solution for clients with certain tax focus considerations or other individualized unique circumstances.

Clients participating in the FMAX Advisory Programs will complete a risk tolerance questionnaire that will assist your Representative in creating an asset allocation that will be tailored to each client's risk profile. Your Representative will have discretion to hire and fire Investment Manager(s) within certain parameters discussed in more detail in the Fees and Compensation section below. Through FIWA's platform, you will have access online performance reports.

The following sub-sections provide an overview of the FMAX Advisory Programs.

Fund Strategist Portfolios (FSP)

The FSP program provides access to a universe of professionally managed assetallocated models composed of mutual funds and ETFs. These models are created by Investment Managers who determine the model's asset allocation and underlying investment selection, as well as any ongoing portfolio changes that are passed on to the Implementation Manager for implementation and ongoing management. Each model is assigned a risk tolerance, which allows the Representative to view all available risk-appropriate models on the basis of the information the Representative has input for its clients. Asset-allocated models composed of mutual funds and ETFs created by FIWA or independent Investment Managers are also included in the FSP Program.

Separately Managed Accounts (SMA)

The SMA program provides your Representative with access to a universe of investment style-specific professionally managed portfolios composed of individual securities. Representatives selecting the SMA Program have access to investment portfolios chosen from a roster of Investment Managers specializing in a variety of investment disciplines. Representatives may combine the SMA with mutual funds or ETFs in order to solve for a client's personal asset allocation requirements. These SMA accounts may be managed on a discretionary basis by the investment manager, or they may be provided in model form, in which case the SMA will be traded by the implementation Manager.

Unified Managed Account (UMA)

The UMA Program enables Representatives to create personalized client portfolios within a single account. UMAs offer the ability to create unique investment "sleeves" within a single account (e.g., mutual fund and ETF sleeves, individual SMA manager sleeves and Fund Strategist sleeves). The Representatives may also create a sleeve that leverages a portfolio they created through the Intermediary Management Tool Suite. In contrast to the Intermediary Management Tool Suite, the Implementation Manager, not the Intermediary, would trade that sleeve.

Once the Representative has established the solutions used in the portfolio, the Implementation Manager provides portfolio implementation management services for UMA accounts. In situations where a Representative selects a discretionary Investment Manager for a particular sleeve within a UMA, that Investment Manager, not the Implementation Manager, will implement trade orders for the portion of the UMA that the Investment Manager has been assigned.

The Intermediary may also select a version of the UMA, whereby an Investment Manager will create a prepackaged asset allocation and investment solution ("Packaged UMA"), typically provided as a model. In this situation the Packaged UMA will be traded by the Implementation Manager.

Advisor Directions (AD)

Separate from the Advisory Programs discussed above, FMAX provides risk-based portfolio management tools enabling Representative to allocate the client's portfolio into general securities, no-load and load-waived funds at net asset value and other investments. This program includes portfolio modeling and diagnostic tools, enabling Intermediaries to act as portfolio managers and manage model portfolios for their Investors. Other tools include rebalancing, drift tolerance controls, and system-generated alerts related to drift and rebalancing.

FMAX Tax and Impact Overlay Services

Provide a comprehensive and customizable solution for clients who want to control and customize their realization of large unrealized gains that are imbedded in their portfolios and for clients who have other unique circumstances that require an individualized strategy.

- Leverages risk optimization software to attempt to match the risk characteristics of an unconstrained portfolio through optimization techniques.
- Allows the Representative, working with FIWA and the Implementation Manager, to help determine the appropriate asset allocation and Models to establish the tax goals for the Investor's account; and
- Can be selected with UMA portfolios.

The fee may be deducted out of the portfolio, paid by check, or from another account. Fees may be negotiable based on client situations. The client may cancel the advisory agreement at any time. Final fees and payment will be memorialized in the client agreement. Cancellation must be made in writing with instructions leaving current investment allocation or a 100% money market position. The remaining prepaid fees will be returned to the client on a pro-rated basis by request. Pro-rated is defined as refunding the portion of thefee during which the account was not under management. ESTATE PLANNING

The fees for estate planning will be determined based on the complexity of the planning services needed.

Trust Based Plan - $750 per Individual, $850 for Couples Deed Preparation and Filing (Optional for Trust Based Plans) New York - $450 Most other states - $250 Will Based Plan - $335 per Individual, $420 for Couples.

Trust & Will offers Attorney Support direct to the client as an option for $200 Per year. Core Alpha does not receive any portion or compensation if the client chooses this option.

The fees may be negotiable in certain cases, will be agreed to at the start of the engagement, and are due at the end of the engagement. Clients are not required to utilize any third party products or services that we may recommend and they can receive similar services from other professionals at a similar or lower cost.

Fidelity Institutional Wealth Advisors Advisory Program (FMAX)

Client will pay a single fee ("Investor Fee") that encompasses the services associated with FMAX ("Program Fee") and other fees as described below, Core Alpha's advisory fee ("Firm") and the Representative's advisory fee ("Intermediary"). The fee will be expressed on your custodial statement as the Managed Account fee under the section Fees and Charges. The Investor Fee charged is calculated as an annual percentage of assets based on the market value of the account at the end of quarter and is charged on a quarterly basis in advance and prorated to the end of the month upon inception of the account.

There is a minimum annual per account Platform fee that ranges between $25 - $65 depending on the Program selected. Fees for Tax and Impact Overlay Services are charged in addition to the Platform Fee and any underlying Investment Manager Fees. Please refer to the FIWA ADV Part 2A Brochure for information related to the advisory fees for each Program.

Participants in FMAX will be required to sign an advisory agreement with Core Alpha, the applicable application and client agreement for Investor Accounts with FMAX. In the event your Representative recommends a change in the selected Investment Managers based on a change in risk tolerance or a change in the overall fee, client will be required to sign new paperwork authorizing the change. Changes could result in a higher or lower Investor Fee being charged to your account(s).

Item 6 - Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Core Alpha does not charge any performance-based fees and therefore does not have conflicts as a result of side-by-side management. Side-by-side management is when a firm charges some clients based on a performance-based fee and other clients on another type of fee such as an asset based fee.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

Core Alpha, Inc. provides investment advice to individuals, trusts, and small business. The firm generally has a $ 75,000 minimum account size to open a CORE portfolio and $2,000 minimum account size to open an Explorer portfolio and SEI portfolios. Account minimums may be lowered based on the situation of the client.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies, and Risk of Loss

The first step in the investment process is to identify the client's goals and risk tolerances. Using this information, the client's assets will be allocated to one of the four following portfolios: income, balance, growth, or aggressive growth for the CORE portfolios. The explorer program offers the following portfolios; controlled growth, dynamic growth or apex growth. The portfolios will have exposure to several asset classes such as stocks, bonds and commodities, among others. The percentage of asset classes will be made based on current forecasts using fundamental and technical analysis. These forecasts will not be 100% accurate. As a result, clients should be prepared to bear the risk of loss. The risk of loss will increase from income portfolio to the aggressive growth portfolio for the Core program. The risk of loss will increase from controlled growth to the Apex growth for the Explorer program. The CORE portfolios will invest primarily in open-end mutual funds with some exchange traded funds. The Explorer portfolios will invest primarily in exchange traded funds with some open-end mutual funds. The selection of the funds will be based on a screening process with quantitative and qualitative factors such as performance, volatility, fees, and evaluation of management. The portfolios will be monitored continually attempting to verify that they are achieving their risk / return objectives.

Risk of Loss

All investment programs have certain risks that are borne by the investor. Our investment approach constantly keeps the risk of loss in mind. Investors face the following investment risks:

- Interest-rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.
- Market Risk: The price of a security, bond, or mutual fund may drop in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger market events.
- Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will not buy as much as a dollar next year, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.
- Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.

- Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e. interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.
- Business Risk: These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it, a lengthy process, before they can generate a profit. They carry a higher risk of profitability than an electric company, which generates its income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like.
- Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.
- Financial Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risk of profitability, because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

Core Alpha and its principles do not have any pending or resolved legal or disciplinary events.

Item 10- Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Through associated persons of Core Alpha Inc. the applicant is engaged in the following business:

- Mutual Funds Associates, Inc. Certain IARs are also registered as broker dealer agents with Mutual Fund Associates, Inc. a FINRA registered broker dealer offering investment products to clients such as Mutual Funds and Variable Annuities. Mutual Funds Associates will not be the custodian broker/dealer for the Core Alpha portfolios and will not profit from any of the investments held in the portfolios. Mutual Funds Associates does have a referral arrangement with Core Alpha. This presents a conflict of interests as the IAR may also receive commissions in his role as a broker dealer agent for securities transactions effected on behalf of the client. Core Alpha will always put the best interests of the client first. Clients should be aware of this conflict. Additionally, Core Alpha will always put the interest of its client first when referring clients to Mutual fund Associates, Inc. for brokerage services. Please see item 14 for more details.
- Accu-Vest Planning, Inc. IARs of Core Alpha may also be registered insurance agents of Accu-Vest Planning, Inc., a financial planning firm that offers clients insurance products such as life insurance. Accu-Vest Planning, Inc. does not profit from any of the investments held in the portfolios. However, the IAR may receive commissions for the sale of insurance products in his role of registered insurance agent. Clients should be aware of this conflict of interest; however, Core Alpha will always put the interest of its clients first.

• S.P. Collins & Company – Sean Collins is the Owner of S.P. Collins & Company, a personal and business tax preparation company. From time to time, he may offer clients advice or products from those activities and clients should be aware that these services may involve a conflict of interest. Core Alpha always acts in the best interest of the client and clients always have the right to decide whether or not to utilize the services of any Core Alpha representative in such individual's outside capacities.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading.

Code of Ethics

- 1) Act in a professional and ethical manner at all times. 2) Act for the benefit of the Clients.
- 3) Act with independence and objectivity. 4) Act with skill, competence, and diligence. 5) Communicate with Clients in a timely and accurate manner. 6) Uphold the rules governing capital markets.

Core Alpha follows the CFA Institute Asset Manager Code of Professional Conduct where applicable. A complete copy of the Code of Ethics will be provided to any client or prospective client by request. It is also available at www.cfainstitute.org.

Employees and Family members have and will invest in the Core Alpha portfolios and will be treated the same as clients. No conflicts exist because of the nature of the securities that we own, for example, mutual funds and EFT. All trading will be done on a group basis. Employees and family members will be part of a group.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

The main factors in the selection of a custodian are the amount of no transaction fee mutual funds, or sub accounts, trading costs, trading tools, access to technology and support services. These services are used in the management of all client accounts.

Core Alpha does not currently receive any soft dollar benefits from the custodians that it works with. "Soft dollars" are payments by the custodian to an investment advisor in connection with client securities transactions which can be used to purchase third party research and services. Core Alpha does not receive client referrals from custodians that it works with and does not request or require that client trades are directed to a specified broker-dealer.

Although Core Alpha participates in SEI's wrap fee program for some client accounts, those clients whose accounts are not in this program can expect to pay third-party fees and expenses, including, but not limited to, brokerage/transaction fees, administrative fees, mutual fund fees, etc. Core Alpha may recommend, but does not require, that clients use certain broker dealers.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

Client portfolios will be placed in one of four groups based on the client's risk tolerance, investment time horizon, and financial situation. Accounts in the same groups will have the same investments except when a mutual fund is closed to new investors. Similar percentages will be invested in each fund. Exchanges or trades are generated for the group members' account using an automated system. Using this system, groups are reviewed on a weekly basis. The goal of the weekly reviews is to construct portfolios that maximize return for a given level of risk. Scott J Zollo, President and Chief Investment Officer of Core Alpha, Inc. is responsible for portfolio review.

The custodian will be responsible for client statements and exchange confirmation statements, mutual fund, ETF, variable annuity subaccount prospectus, annual reports and proxy information. Customized reports are available from Core Alpha by request of the client.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

The advisor has an agreement with Mutual Funds Associates, Inc. and its registered representatives for the client's referrals. Commissions will be paid to Mutual Funds associates for client referrals. Mutual Funds Associates, a FINRA broker/dealer, will not be the custodian broker / dealer for the Core Alpha portfolios. Due to this referral arrangements, a conflict of interest exists with respect to referrals made by affiliated entities because of the referral fees received. Clients should ensure they understand these arrangements before making an investment decision.

Item 15 – Custody

Clients will receive monthly statements by mail or online directly from the qualified custodian and should carefully review those statements. A qualified custodian is a specialized financial institution responsible for safeguarding client's financial assets such as stocks or mutual funds and arranges settlement on purchases and sales.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

Core Alpha, Inc. does accept discretionary authority to manage portfolios on behalf of clients. Discretionary authority will be limited to the selection of mutual funds, exchange traded funds, and exchange traded notes and variable annuity sub accounts. Client must sign an agreement granting the firm this authority.

Item 17 – Voting of Client Securities

Core Alpha will not accept authority to vote client securities. Clients will receive their proxies or other solicitations directly from their custodian.

Item 18 – Financial Information

Core Alpha does not require more than $500 in fees per client. The firm only requires fees be paid three months in advance, not six months or more in advance. As a result, disclosure of financial information is not required but, by request, Core Alpha will voluntarily supply financial information to clients.
